Easter Egg Hunt March 29

The Ken-Caryl Ranch Annual Easter Egg Hunt is always a hit with our residents! This year we are enhancing the event scheduled for Sunday, March 29 at Ranch House Park. We have changed the time to 11 a.m.-1 p.m. to help accommodate our younger egg hunters. Pat Lynch with Re/Max Professionals will be back to raffle off some great prizes. The Ken-Caryl Parent Network will host a snack table, and we encourage families to bring a picnic lunch or brunch to enjoy during or after the event. The Little Gym will be there with exciting activities and program information. We will have a designated area for photo opportunities with the Easter Bunny, so please bring your own camera. This year we'll have even more eggs! The egg hunts are divided by age group, and each age group has their own time. Please keep an eye out for a walking, talking carrot and KCRMD Staff who will kick off each egg hunt, and don't forget your own Easter basket! Easter Egg Hunts will begin at:

11:30 a.m. for children ages 0-2	11:45 a.m. for children ages 2-4
12:00 p.m. for children ages 5-7	12:15 p.m. for children ages 8 and up

A covenant protected community.

By KCRMD Executive Director Chris Pacetti

With our great late winter weather we were able to get two major fence projects started in mid-March. The rail fence that borders the north side of the greenbelt that runs from Continental Divide to Chatfield Ave. is being replaced by Standard Fence Company. The brick columns that are part of the fence that runs along Chatfield Ave. are being repaired by Commercial Fence and Iron Works. After some difficult working conditions that slowed progress in February, AGE, our drainage contractor, is making great progress on the repairs to Massey Draw below the Community Center. I know that we will be getting some more winter weather but it sure is great getting a jump on spring.

Concept plans for the bond-funded projects were presented to the community in an open house format meeting last week and are now available to review on our website. The design team is now working on refining the plans using input received from the community and staff.

Our March annual meeting signified the end of Board President Valerie Walling’s time as a member of the Board, for now anyway. I am hopeful we will talk her into serving again someday. I would like to take this opportunity to thank her for all of her dedicated service toward making Ken-Caryl Ranch such a great place to live, work and play. It has been a learning experience for me to work with her, and we have all grown under her leadership.

Thankfully she is continuing to serve on the Community Planning Committee so we have not lost her completely. Thank you, Valerie!

◆ Ken-Caryl Garden Tour

Seeking Nominations for Garden Tour

Submitted by Krista Rahe

The Ken-Caryl Ranch Garden Tour Committee is planning a tour of residents’ gardens (tentative date of July 11), and the committee is looking for gardens to be part of the tour. The ideal garden would showcase all flowers or a combination of flowers/vegetables and should be aesthetically pleasing. Various themed gardens could also be of interest to tour participants (rock gardens, water gardens, habitat gardens, etc.). It is a great chance to share the beauty you have created with other residents, and you will inspire more gardens in the area by your participation.

The tour will be a fundraiser to build portable, wheeled garden beds for rehab/ nursing facilities. The committee will place a 2015 pilot garden at Care Meridian on Bowles Ave. in honor of Nina Forgo who lived there after her severe stroke and found great joy and healing during her time spent working with plants. This year’s event will raise funds to place other gardens at other area nursing facilities in future years as funds become available so that this healing method can be spread to others.

If you have such a garden or know of one in Ken-Caryl, please email Krista Rahe at krahe@raheservices.com with your name, address and contact information. Please attach photos of your garden from previous years, or give a description of what would make your garden a good addition to the garden tour. We request that all residents interested in submitting their garden for consideration do so by April 10.

There will be a panel of decision makers who will base their choices on which gardens they think would present the most interesting tour for attendees. Those who own the gardens chosen will be asked to attend one or two planning meetings and to be at your garden on the day of the tour to answer questions about it and share your gardening expertise. If you have any questions, please call Krista at 303-810-5061.

Online HOA Account Access

The Ken-Caryl Ranch Master Association is pleased to announce the arrival of online HOA account access. Go online at <http://vmsweb.kcranch.org> to access your account information including your account balance, monthly assessment amounts, ACH information (if applicable), mailing address information, architectural and compliance notifications, etc. Earlier in March, you should have received a letter with instructions for account access, including a website link, account number and password. We suggest you immediately change your password and add your email address. Go to the User Profile, “Contacts” tab, Email Options and Password ID. If you have any questions regarding the webpage access, please contact Annette Chavez at annettec@kcranch.org or 303-979-1876, ext. 112.

Bond Projects Major Milestone Reached

Submitted by Paul Camp, Vanir Construction Management

The Schematic Design phase for the bond projects is almost complete. This is a major milestone in the overall designs for the Ranch House, Community Center and Dakota Lodge campuses. Included in Schematic Design are preliminary building floor plans and preliminary site plans.

All of this was made possible by the hard work of our design team and the Ken-Caryl Ranch residents and staff participating in multiple focus group meetings and open houses. Thanks to everyone!

While most of the major design decisions have now been made, there are many, many minor issues that need to be worked out over the next few months. These include, exact room sizing, door placement and type, interior colors and finishes, furniture, lighting and numerous other important design details. Stay up-to-date on the design effort by visiting the Bond and Improvement Projects page of the Ken-Caryl Ranch website. Please contact us via bondprojects@kcranch.org if you have any comments or questions.

Annual Volunteer Patrol Training

By Open Space Ranger Matt Oven

The 2015 Annual Volunteer Patrol Training is on April 18 from 9-11 a.m. in the Park Ranger Office (next to Dakota Lodge). The training will involve reviewing trails, patrol logs, handbook/guidebook, and discussing program goals with statistics from the last three years of the program. The second hour will be field training while reviewing contact procedures including scenario/actual trail user contacts near the Manor House Kiosk.

The minimum requirement to be a part of the program is to perform at least two trail patrols a month. This can include either hiking or biking the trail and stopping at intersections to check on membership from trail users and observe any other violations in the open space.

Transportation to the Manor House Kiosk will be provided for the field training, or you are welcome to bring your bike and ride to the location for the second part of the class. Light refreshments will be provided.

If you would like to attend the training event, please visit the website at ken-carylranh.org, click on the Open Space tab, then the Volunteer Info link and you will find the Volunteer Patroller Description, Application and Letter of Commitment. You may email the application to matto@kcranch.org. Please RSVP to the event by emailing or calling Matt. Any questions, feel free to email or call Matt at 720-599-3261.

Ken-Caryl Community Garden Update

Submitted by Harriet Camp, North Ranch

The Ken-Caryl Community Garden (KCCG) is sold out for 2015! For gardeners in the KCCG or home gardeners, now is the time to plan your garden.

Garden planning is important for many reasons. Do you plan to start seeds indoors, plant seeds directly into the soil or purchase plants from the nursery? If you plan to start seeds indoors, it is necessary to do so at least several weeks before outdoor planting. Refer to the seed packets as to how long it takes the seeds to germinate. Plants that typically are started indoors are plants that need a longer growing season such as tomatoes, peppers, onions, celery, eggplant, melons and winter squash. Plants such as lettuce, beans, peas, zucchini and spinach do fine if sowed directly into the ground at the proper time. So what else does Garden Planning entail?

Deciding What to Plant

First and foremost, grow what you will eat. Also realize that three zucchini plants will perhaps produce too many zucchini for your family. Maybe one plant would suffice, and you can use that extra room for some other type of summer squash.

Our season is very short so plants that need a longer growing season, such as many tomatoes, peppers and corn, may not do so well. Really pay attention to the "Days to Maturity" on the label of plants and seed packets. Plants requiring fewer days will do much better in the Ken-Caryl climate. My garden favorites are green beans, Romaine lettuce, broccoli, sugar snap peas and squash.

Try something new. Most of us are creatures of habit. If your parents had a garden or you have had a garden in the past you may be planting what you are familiar with. There are new and colorful varieties of old favorites: purple cauliflower, purple carrots, white eggplants or tricolored beans. It's hard not to find something new to grow in the garden every year.

Deciding How to Plant

First and foremost, garden layout. Narrow row gardening is what most of us are familiar with. Guess what? Plants will grow even if they aren't in a narrow row! Actually they might be more vigorous and prolific. You can try square-foot gardening, which involves sub-dividing your garden into square foot areas and planting a different crop in each square. You can also plant free-form or circular. Plant radishes or lettuce between the corn rows, which will be a natural weed barrier.

Let the Sun Shine In. Plants need at least six hours of full sun per day. Place tall crops such as corn, trellised tomatoes, beans and peas toward the northern side of your garden so that these crops don't shade lower-growing vegetables.

Crop Rotation. Don't plant the same crop or even one of the same family in the same place two or more years in a row. Each plant has a particular need of specific nutrients taken from the soil. Crop rotation allows the soil nutrients to replenish. In addition most pests prefer a certain plant. If you continue to plant the same crops in the same place year after year, the pests don't need to cruise around looking for food.

Succession Planting. Spring is not the only time for garden planting. As soon as you harvest the short-season crops you can fill in the empty spaces. Radishes, lettuce, spinach or kale can be planted late summer for fall harvest. Make sure you refresh the soil by working a layer of compost into the soil with a rake prior to succession planting.

Get out a blank piece of paper and title it "Garden Plan." Be creative, experiment and enjoy. Happy Gardening!

Tips for Architectural Submittals

By Architectural Administrator Julie Kearful

As I write this column, the weather is so summery it is a bit scary - but certainly most welcome and beautiful! The increased number of architectural submittals tells me that folks are thinking of and planning for outdoor projects as the spring and summer seasons approach.

A couple of "tips" as you complete your forms and submit for architectural review may be helpful in expediting the process. Firstly, be sure to submit prior to beginning the work and leaving time for the review – waiting until the painter shows up to paint or the paint goes on sale complicates things. Secondly, please be sure to complete the form and provide a description of what the project will look like upon completion – i.e. don't simply say bushes will be removed – we will always need to know what will be replacing the bushes.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at 303-979-1876, ext. 119, or email juliek@kcranch.org for any assistance with the architectural process. I have samples of paint colors, roofing products, new windows, garage doors and much more here in my office and am always happy to help! My office hours are Tuesday 8 a.m.-noon, Wednesday 1-5 p.m. and Thursday 8 a.m.-noon.

The following is a summary of items from the March 17 business meeting of the Ken-Caryl Ranch Master Association Board:

- James Moore, the auditor, presented the 2014 audit and answered questions from the Board. Following this, the Board voted to accept the audit including the transfer of net revenues from 2014 to the Special Project Fund.
- Staff updated the Board on the Manor House addition.
- Staff and Board members reported on the status of bond projects and associated committee work including the Community Planning Committee.
- Staff and the Board discussed the status of the bids to repair or replace the Riding School Building at the Equestrian Center.

- The Board reviewed the Collections Policy for the Master Association.
- Manager's Report: A written report was included in the Board package.
- Committees: Board member committee liaisons reported on the activities that their committees have been engaged in for the past month.
- A motion was approved amending Open Space Rule No. 7.
- A motion was approved selecting Weed Wranglers to provide noxious weed control chemical application for 2015, 2016 and 2017.
- A motion was approved passing a resolution indemnifying retiring Board member Valerie Walling.

Snow Day Won't Stop Dedicated Calculus Teacher

Submitted by Julie Imbler, North Ranch

Cindy Cannon teaches five sections of Advanced Placement Calculus, levels AB and BC, each year at Chatfield Senior High School. On Feb. 26, Jefferson County closed all schools, including Chatfield Senior High, for a snow day.

Ms. Cannon did not want her students to lose a single day of teaching as they are preparing for the Advanced Placement exam in May, which can earn them college credit for their high school Calculus class.

Chatfield Senior High School calculus teacher
Cindy Cannon and her dog Lancelot.

Used to solving complex problems, this amazing teacher drove to the school in the aftermath of a snowstorm to record the scheduled Calculus AB and BC lessons on her classroom white board. She then emailed all her Calculus students links to these lessons and their homework assignment for the day.

Going the extra mile is nothing new to this bright and energetic teacher. Ms. Cannon regularly records her Calculus lectures for students with excused absences so that they do not have to fall behind.

A former student at Chatfield, Ms. Cannon went on to study at the University of Denver before returning to share her passion for mathematics.

"My favorite thing about teaching high school students is their unbridled energy. We are so fortunate at Chatfield to have such amazing students. These kids are supported at home and know how to work through challenging material. I am fortunate to work with other teachers who do an incredible job preparing these students," Ms. Cannon said.

Since 2010, 146 Chatfield students have taken AP Calculus BC and 146 students (100 percent) have scored 5, the best score possible. Likewise, since 2010, 437 Chatfield students have taken AP Calculus AB, and 437 students (100 percent) have scored 3 or better. Of those, 404 students (92 percent) have scored 5. Although a score of 5 is the best score possible, it allows for a few mistakes. A perfect score indicates zero missed points.

On March 5, the Jefferson County Board of Education honored Ms. Cannon and her former student Joslynn Shamis, who received a perfect score on the Calculus BC exam last spring—one of only nine perfect scores out of 112,292 tests taken worldwide.

"Cindy's accomplishments as an AP Calculus teacher are unmatched. To have so many kids come through her program over the years and for all of them—literally all of them—to be so successful in such a rigorous course is awe-inspiring," said Chatfield Principal Wendy Rubin. "Cindy is so humble about the success of the AP Calculus students here. If you ask Cindy how she engenders such success year after year, she will tell you that the success of the kids is attributable to all of the math teachers that have taught the kids over time."

You might think a mathematics teacher of this caliber would be all business, but Ms. Cannon has an engaging sense of humor that helps to keep her students focused.

"When I am in Cindy's room, I feel like I am in an alternate universe – everyone is doing crazy hard math and laughing and having a great time doing it," said Principal Rubin.

According to her students, Ms. Cannon keeps an exercise bike in the back of the room for any student needing a quick pick-me-up during class. And then there's the Wheel of Fortune, loaded with extra points and candy. When a student answers a particularly difficult question, she might say, "That's a spin!"

One student says Ms. Cannon is so passionate about Calculus that if you look closely at her dry erase markers, the tips are all smashed in. It seems the markers may be the only dull thing you will find about this outstanding educator.

Residents Open Bundt Cake Bakery in Littleton

By Community Relations Director Victoria DeSair

Ken-Caryl Ranch residents Mike and Diana Dargen are the owners of a Nothing Bundt Cakes franchise in Littleton at 8116 W. Bowles Ave. The bakery specializes in nostalgic yet refreshingly modern Bundt cakes. They are thrilled to combine their love of baking and their entrepreneurial spirit to start the business.

The couple was first introduced to the company's cakes by Mike's aunt and uncle, Dick and Dakota Spielmann, who had been involved with the franchise in Fort Worth, Texas. Mike and Diana tried and fell in love with the taste of the cakes.

You would never guess that the Dargens would start a bakery when you look at their background. Mike joined the North Dakota Air National Guard in 1982 and was trained as a pilot in the United States Air Force. He is currently a United Airlines flight officer and a Lieutenant Colonel in the Air National Guard. With a master's in human relations, Diana's background is with non-profit organizations as well as customer and food service industries.

"We started our Nothing Bundt Cakes franchise to satisfy our entrepreneurial spirit and to have something of our own that is high quality and fun to pursue," said Diana. "We love interacting with our guests and ensuring they have a wonderful experience when they enter our bakery. Knowing we bake everything we offer in our bakery using only fresh ingredients makes it easy to believe sincerely in our product."

Mike and Diana said their business is differentiated from other bakeries by their commitment to their guests and quality products. They believe in building a strong team of employees and leading the team with respect and compassion.

"A successful leader focuses on getting the job done and taking care of those working for you. You must treat your team with respect, compassion and empathy while at the same time instilling a good work ethic and sense of teamwork. These traits are the key to a top functioning organization. Diana and I work well as a team, complementing each other's strong points," said Mike.

To find out more about Nothing Bundt Cakes, visit www.nothingbundtcakes.com or call the bakery at 303-973-3435.

● Youth Programs

Beginner’s Drawing 1 for 5TH-8TH Graders

We are so excited to be offering this art program with professional artist and KCR Youth Programs’ staff, Patrick Maxcy. For eight weeks, students will focus on and learn new skills each session, ending the program with an artists’ showcase party! Patrick is a familiar face in our Before and After School Program and break camps, but his experience goes well beyond our community. Patrick, born and raised in Florida, has always had a love for the arts. To continue his passion and share his love for the creative, Patrick studied art and education at the Florida School of the Arts and Florida Atlantic University. He taught in public schools for four years, before turning his full attention to professional work.

For the last seven years, Patrick has traveled around the world, painting murals, showing in galleries (he is currently showing in six across North America!), and catered to a variety of clients, such as Red Bull, TOMS shoes, History Channel, US Humane Society, and many more.

We had CCW install one brand new window and relocate an existing window in another wall of our home. He had everything from the demolition to the drywalling scheduled down to the "T." We were very pleased with how well everything went and the final result was nothing short of exceptional! The new windows add not only character but value to our home. We highly recommend Colorado Classic Windows and plan on using them when we replace our two patio sliders with new swing style. Preston's a man of his word and stands behind his work. You won't be disappointed if you hire him.

The Six-Minute Bike Workout

The recent interest in high-intensity interval training has seen the term Tabata applied to many different exercise regimens, and one of the original studies was performed on a bicycle. The training protocol of repeated 20-second work periods coupled with 10-second rest periods was first introduced by Kouichi Irisawa, head coach of the Japanese National Speed Skating Team. Through his work he came to believe that exercise intensity was at least as important as, if not more important than, exercise duration.

What can you possibly accomplish in just six minutes on the bike? A lot, actually. All you have to do is ride as hard as you can. Better yet, instead of riding as hard as you can for six straight minutes, ride at your true maximum power-output level in short bursts, resting just long enough between bursts to avoid a precipitous decline in power output from one burst to the next.

Three-Minute Warm-Up

With your heartrate monitor in place, start out at a slow pace – approximately 60-65 rpms on an exercise bike is good, using low resistance. After one minute, increase the resistance by one notch and your rpms by 10 and then again for the third minute. Your heartrate should now be at a moderate level.

Two High-Intensity Intervals

Up your resistance another notch and ensuring that your feet are still squarely in the pedals go as fast as you possibly can for 20 seconds. Your rpms should be over 85. Now slow down for 10 seconds. Don't worry; your heart rate will increase. Your body is simply searching for more oxygen to increase your energy level. Record the maximum heartrate you reached. Now do it again!

Two-Minute Cool Down

This time when you've finished the high-intensity 20-second interval you should decrease resistance to zero and pedal slowly for two minutes. Now rest for one minute – do nothing else except check your heartrate and record it. This is your recovery heartrate.

Repeat Every Other Day ONLY

Your body needs to recover fully afterwards, so don't be tempted to do this every day as a beginner. During the following 24 hours, your body will be working on strengthening your heart and lungs and building muscle.

Time to Increase the Intervals?

When you notice your recovery heartrate has decreased, add another interval. If you're healthy this may happen after a week or two; if not so healthy then just keep at it. That decreased recovery heartrate level will tell you when your body is ready for more. Increase the tension one notch when your body's ready. Let your recovery heartrate be your guide.

Science Fair Best in Show

Ethan Pankow, a fifth-grader at Bradford Intermediate, was the recent “Best in Show” ribbon winner at the school’s science fair. He also won first place for his category of electricity and magnetism. He did a project all about getting electricity from lemons. Ethan learned that by connecting lemons in a series, enough electricity was generated to power a small LED lightbulb. Congratulations, Ethan!

Spring has Sprung

Environmental Education Specialist Gabrielle Chisholm

If you are hiking, be prepared, this can really make or break your experience. Make sure to always pack plenty of water, a snack, a cell phone, use sunscreen, but also have clothing for rain or snow, because you never know! Make sure you know your route and that you have told someone that you are hiking. Next, always use the trail, even if that means you get a little muddy; it's more fun that way! Staying on the trail helps prevent erosion and lets new growth in plants establish.

Hike with a Naturalist is back! Join KC Nature for spring all-age hikes where we will explore the world of black bears and wildflowers. Hope to see you on the trail!

It's official, spring was here as of Friday, March 20. The days are getting longer and the temperature is warming up thanks to the vernal equinox. That means it is time to get outside and hike, garden or just enjoy some fresh air. This time of year the weather can be very unpredictable, snowy one day and 70s the next, so it is very important to remember some of Leave No Trace principles while enjoying the outdoors.

Ken-Caryl Art Guild Presents Wildlife Artist J.B. Sullivan

Submitted by Michele Sires-DeLorean

Wildlife artist J. B. Sullivan will be featured at the Thursday, April 9 meeting of the Ken-Caryl Art Guild at Rox Bar & Grill, 12684 W Indore Place in Littleton. His presentation topic, "Animal Odyssey" will take place at 7 p.m., following the regularly scheduled business meeting at 6 p.m. Sullivan will speak about his plans for a 10-year artistic journey across our country in which he will be capturing wildlife art from the sweltering swamps of Florida to the frozen tundra of Alaska.

A rare Colorado native, Sullivan's art reflects his western heritage and love of the outdoors. Wildlife and animals of all kinds are his favorite subjects. Each animal must be anatomically correct and true to its species, so snouts, hooves and fur are carefully studied by Sullivan. He possesses a well-developed eye for the unique composition, proper lighting and special moments in time.

Wildlife and animals of all kinds tell their story through Sullivan's work. The exquisite drawings bring forth a chuckle, a smile or nod of personal association with the subject. Created with graphite, charcoal and sometimes a touch of color using colored pencils, his highly detailed, representational style requires mastering various pencil leads and devoting hundreds of hours to each piece.

Learn more about J. B. Sullivan and his meticulous drawings of wildlife art at www.jsullivanart.com.
